PIONEER WASHER.
JAMES BRUSIE,
AGENT FOR OREGON AND WASHINGTON TERRITORY,

THIS CELEBRATED WASHING MACHINE IS now for the first time introduced to the Oregon public. It is unrivalled for its simplicity, durability and the rapidity and ease of its action. Washing the dirtiest clothes perfectly clean in from five to ten minutes, with but slight labor, and lasting, with proper care, for ten years. The wear and tear of clothing in washing by this machine is vastly less than by any other known process of washing. It is easily worked by one person.

This Machine captured the Special Premium at the California State Fair, and all that have used it pronounce it an invaluable adjunct to old housekeepers and families and washing men and washing women.

It has been extensively introduced throughout the State of California, and receives the universal commendation of all who have used it.

The undersigned is now in the city of Portland, where he can be seen at Mr. O. Hilliburn's Store, corner of Front and Yamhill Sts., East side, Portland, and is prepared to furnish the Machine to purchasers and also to sell and dispose of County Rights for the sale of the same

The Fortieth Parallel—isms.

THE PHILOSOPHY AND THE INFLUENCE OF NORTHERN RADICALISM.

Rev. A. D. Mayo, a liberal preacher of Cincinnati, has in the Christian Examiner for May, a very noteworthy analysis of "Western Emigration and Western Character," setting forth the elements and influences at work in the West to form a new and American race. His exposition of the peculiar intellectual radicalism of the people along the line of the 40th parallel, as the controlling influence in our national character, is so graphic and candid and philosophical—so capital a portrait of ourselves—that we shall all be glad to read it:

From Eastport to St. Paul, one general type of the American character prevails, above the fortieth parallel of latitude. The inhabitants of this region, though in different states of progress and culture, represent all the essential attributes of that grand middle class of Great Britain, to which free society owes its greatest debt of gratitude. It is the most intellectual people in the world; though its intellect has so far been chiefly occupied in regions of industrial, political and social life. It bears within its latent deeps the new literature, philosophy, science, art, and religion of the republic. Every good idea moves through our human life dogged by a black shadow; and it is not strange that this most progressive, intellectual and energetic order of northern society should be exposed to all the dangers of radicalism in its most extreme and varied forms. This region of our country has given birth to a multitude of excitable and unbalanced spirits, who have published their opinions in perfect freedom during the last twenty-five years. The system of popular lectures, the press, the convention have given every facility to the class of agitators; and the lively interest of the masses of the people has always secured a large hearing to every public teacher who did not add to his radical extravagance the conservative grace of stupidity. The prolonged agitations in the churches have also bred destructive fanaticism and desolating skepticisms, which have alarmed many good men for the existence of the church itself. The political life of this district is never stagnant; for every month some new monster makes the sea of popular opinion "boil like a pot of ointment." Business is perpetually sounding the deeps and scaling the heights of speculation. And even the family is assailed by strange theories of marriage, which threaten to dissolve society itself. There is no doubt that the charge of the whole world is true,—that this portion of America is the battle-ground of all possible and impossible theories of human affairs.

But the enemies of the radical North, in their estimate of its tendencies, fail to discover the grand, distinctive characteristic of this remarkable people—its deep faith in the spiritual and moral side of human life. There never was a people on this earth who believed so firmly in the spirituality and immortality of man, the justice and perpetual providence of God, and the eternal distinction between right and wrong, as this. They inherit this faith from their ancestors, the noble middle-class of Great Britain, who represent the most profound religious faith of the northern European races. This faith is a part of the spiritual furniture of every native born girl or boy. It may be dormant for long periods in whole classes or communities; indeed the intense activity of the mental and executive faculty often gives it no opportunity to awake. Our people love to think, discuss, and work, for the pure enjoyment of the thing. Hence people whose volume of life is smaller, and whose religious sentiments lie nearer the surface and more easily excited, declaim against us as prosaic, materialistic and irreligious race. But let some deep and searching experience penetrate below the region of thought and work, and unseal the deep fountains of his native faith, and this northern man starts up, a hero, a reformer, a martyr, or a saint. The gorgeous ritualism of the old European churches is now but a thicket of thorns which he overleaps, or tears through on his swift flight to his God. His intellect is kindled by the great fire below it, and flashes a startling light into the face of every accepted theory of life, in complete faith that all truth can bear the strongest illumination. He knows himself too well to fear the full indulgence of his head and hands, while his soul takes hold on the everlasting realities.

This faith in spiritual things is at once the fountain of perpetual life, and the protecting providence of the Northern people. For want of it the South, and all the southern nations, are vibrating continually between the wildest fanaticisms and utter despotism. A South Carolina secessionist, an Italian priest, an Austrian nobleman, knows by experience the danger of free thought among his own people. They see how a new idea maddens the popular mind, and speedily ultimates itself in a social anarchy, the very image of the infernal world. They suppose a people which thinks so intensely and freely as the radical North must be in a state of spiritual, social and civil delirium. But they do not know this great northern soul, that, amidst its fiercest flames, is cooled by breezes from that high zone of life where God and man abide together. This portion of the United States is not only the home of radicalism in theory, but of the finest order in actual affairs. When its people have come to the end of their speculations, and begin the real work of life, they throw way nothing essential that has been gained by the toils of the past. They are deliberate in legislation, firm in administering justice, and practical in all their ideas. Mr. Phillips argued twenty years to persuade this people that it was a sin to vote and hold office under the government of the United States. He was the most popular orator of the North; but we never heard of an abolitionist that was not glad to hold any office that Father Abraham could be induced to give him. Jackson Davis, the trance "medium," and the advocates of every form of no-religion, have had the field clear to do their best; but there is no community that can be kept out of the churches when a saintly and eloquent man stands in the pulpit; and the northern church was never so active and really influential as now. Business, education, amusement, domestic and social life, are always moving towards a firmer basis. The pecuniary honesty, the solid learning, the domestic purity, the abiding cheerfulness of this republic, are emphatically to be found north of this line of demarcation. There is more gross sensuality in the homes of the poor southern emigrants in southern Indiana and Illinois, than in all the country above the fortieth parallel of latitude; indeed, most of the disorders, spiritual and social, in this region, can be traced either to southern or European emigrants from lands of civil and religious despotism.

This northern radical people will become the ruling power in American affairs. It has already captured the great line of central cities from Philadelphia to Leavenworth. It is molding the entire population between the thirty-eighth and fortieth parallels of latitude to its own ideas. It is now the only concentrated power in the Union. While Cincinnati, Louisville and St. Louis wrangle and hesitate, and never gather themselves up for one grand effort, the whole array of northern towns, from

The Great Want of the West.

An Eastern journal in the course of an article setting forth the immense advantages which may expected to follow from the establishment of a rapid means of transit between the opposite shores of this country truly remarks that "a want of freer and cheaper means of access is all that keeps the half or three quarters of a million people on the Pacific slope from a rapid increase of wealth and strength." This fact is constantly becoming more clearly realized by those people in those States who take an interest in the growth and advancement of this part of the country. For years the feeling of impatience because of our isolated condition has been deepening, and now that there is a prospect that this greatest of drawbacks is soon to be mitigated or altogether removed, the people of the Pacific slope are waiting with tenfold more eagerness than ever before for the consummation. This country has always been, speaking after the manner of the old geographers, almost literally beyond the verge of the world, and those who have made their homes on these shores have been quite as effectually shut off from the centres of population and commerce in the East as if they had taken their station the other side of the globe. The remoteness of our situation, the cost, danger and discomfort of travel and the length of time required to reach the Pacific States and Territories have overbalanced the natural advantages which the country has always offered, and prevented that rapidity of growth which would have been witnessed had the Pacific slope been accessible to the crowding population of the Eastern States. It is true there are evidences of prosperity all around us, and whoever compares the condition of Oregon with its condition ten years ago will find no reason for discouragement; but everybody expects the rate of growth in the future will be much more rapid, and none would be satisfied with the same degree of progress for the next decade. The people are looking with earnestness, with anxiety, for the approach of a new era for the Pacific coast, and the leading thought of every man who feels that his interest is here is the obtainment of better means of communication with the rest of the world, and particularly with other parts of our own country. This is the engrossing idea. It is everywhere manifested. Our people are not able to do much in the way of furnishing money for these schemes, but they hope to enlist the attention of those who have money awaiting investment. The Pacific Railroad is advancing rapidly, and soon California will be joined to the East. Oregon and Washington and Idaho want to reach this road by some means, or what is better, to obtain railroad communication with the East by an independent route. The same aid should be given by Congress for a Northern which has been granted for the Central road. This aid has been applied for, and with such a subsidy there would be no doubt of the success of the work. A company composed of men of great influence and representing great wealth was organized in Boston in May to take hold of the enterprise. The names of the Board of Managers which we here subjoin will give an idea of the solidity of the Company. Backed by the influence which may be brought to bear through their instrumentality, it is hoped that the aid asked from Congress may be speedily obtained. Here are the names of the gentlemen constituting the Board above above mentioned:

Wm. B Ogden of Chicago, President Chicago and Northwestern; J. Edgar Thompson of Philadelphia, President Pennsylvania Central; Robert H. Bedell of New York, President Erie; Geo. W. Cass of Pittsburg, President of Pittsburg, Ft. Wayne and Chicago Railroad., Wm. G. Fargo of Buffalo, Vice President of the New York Central, Thomas U. Canfield of Burlington, Vt.; Hon. John Gregory Smith, President of the Vermont Central Railroad, Hon. R.D. Rice, President of the Portland and Kennebeck Railroad; Hon Austin Spears, President of the Colony Railroad.

Secretary Howard of the Northern Pacific Railroad, in a late letter written by Senator Edmunds of Michigan, we extract a paragraph on the Northern Pacific Railroad, showing that the advantages of this route considered with reference to the Asiatic trade, are becoming widely appreciated and generally appreciated. Here is what it says:

The [illegible] of political events clearly indicates that [illegible] will at no distant day, [illegible] in China and Japan. [illegible] reserve to those ancient masses of commerce and art by many thousand miles than any European nation. The superior enterprise of our people is a fixed fact. The resources of our country—not overlooking our inexhaustible mines of gold and silver—are known to the world. Such a people with such means, will take the lead of others. It is a thing to be expected—calculated upon as a certainty. Again, take Chicago as the great central mart of this portion of the North. A calculation of distances on the globe shows that the distance from Chicago to Shanghai, the principal trading port in China, on the Northern Pacific Railroad route and by the way of Puget Sound, is shorter between 400 and 500 miles, than by way of the Union Pacific route through San Francisco—a very material consideration in trade, affecting both the price and the supply."

The Bureau gives the following description of the monument which is to be erected this week at Albany to the memory of Delazon Smith. The monument comes from the establishment of Monroe & Mellen of Salem: The base is of Oregon sand stone, 28 inches square and two feet thick. A marble base on that is surmounted by an ogee moulding, above that is the die on which the inscriptions are engraved. It is 20 inches high and 16 square. Above this rises the column, standing on a moulded base, and nearly four feet high, 10½ inches at the base, tapering to 7½ at the top. At the top is a heavy mould. cap, surmounted by an urn. The hight of the monument when set up will be ten feet. It is a very handsomely finished piece of work. It can be seen at the establishment of M & M. The cost of the monument is $500, of which amount Messrs. Monroe & Mellen donate $75.

Ex-Gov. Pickering of Washington Territory claims to have discovered last fall a pass through the Cascade mountains much more feasible than any hitherto found. The entire distance he describes as a "flat valley" from half a mile to three miles in width. The streams flow very gently in the pass, one leading to Snoqualmie, twenty or thirty miles, the other to the Yakima, ten or twelve miles. He claims that the pass was not found by Stevens nor McClellan, nor any of their assistants.

A Democratic paper finds it difficult "to see how the President can preserve a proper degree of respect for his high office without calling General Sheridan to strict account and suspending him until his conduct is satisfactorily explained." Fearful that the President will not preserve the dignity of his office! What charming simplicity! And what a warm interest some people do take in the honor and deportment of the Chief Magistrate who only a few months ago ejaculated with a half-drunken leer, "I care nothing for my dignity!"

Ex Gov. Perry of South Carolina publishes another letter reiterating his political views. He argues against the acceptance of the "political situation" by the Southern people, declaring that to organize under the reconstruction law in the hope of being able to control the negro vote is supreme folly.

Surratt's trial is still dragging on at Washington. As the head traitor, Jeff Davis, has been set at liberty it seems sufficiently farcical to try the virtue of the law on the tail, John Surratt.

Boilers' Convention of California

Sacramento July 17 —The Convention was called to order at 8 o clock last night. The Committee on Credentials rendered the names of 11 delegates from four from counties. The following order of business was adopted:

1st Revision of nominees for State officers.
2d Report of Committee on Resolutions.
3d Appointment of State Central Committee. Unanimously adopted.

On motion of Mr Wade, of San Francisco and seconded by Mr Swift of Sacramento it was unanimously resolved that this Convention does heartily endorse and will cordially support all the nominations of the late Convention, excepting those for Governor, Secretary of State Comptroller and State Printer. Notice was given of a caucus in the evening. Adjourned till 9 A M to-day.

The Convention met at 9:45 A M. The Vice Presidents took their places.

Mr Fay, as the result of the confidential meeting of delegates last evening, was authorized to offer the following resolutions.

Resolved, That we place in nomination for the office of Governor, Hon John Bidwell, of Butte county, this undoubted choice of the majority of the Union party, a majority of the delegates of the Union State Convention, and the unanimous choice of this Convention believing that he will be triumphantly elected by the people, and also believing that if elected he will not only serve in accordance with his public declarations, but will discharge the duties of the office with honor to himself and with fidelity to the people and to the advancement of the financial interests of the State.

Mr Dickerson, of San Francisco said Doubt had been intimated whether Bidwell would accept the nomination; that he was so bound by his candidacy before the other Convention that he could not accept and must decline. He protested against that view. He is bound by his letters agreeing to accept the nomination if tendered him by the people. We speak their voice. He cannot disregard it, or refuse nomination. Bidwell was then declared the nominee by acclamation.

The resolutions adopted are similar to those passed by the regular Union State Convention. Among them is the following:

Resolved, That we are in favor of impartial suffrage without distinction of color.

J McWilliam, of Sacramento was nominated for Secretary of State. William Jones, of Humboldt for Controller, and E G Jeffries of Sacramento, for State Printer.

FROM PUGET SOUND.

Our Olympia correspondent (July 14th) writes:

Jacob Somers left on Wednesday for Skookum Chuck on a prospecting expedition.

H. Hartly returned last week from prospecting the region at the head of Hood's Canal, not having found anything of importance.

The wooden logs to convey water on Percival's wharf have been found completely destroyed by worms, and new pipes have been laid. The old ones were put down about a year ago.

A picnic was participated in by the scholars, parents and friends of the District School last Friday, at the old clam bake grounds, five miles below town, and heartily enjoyed by over one hundred excursionists. The place is reached by sail-boats, and such is the character of our summer climate that a good sail is one of the pleasures of these excursions. These gatherings are one of the institutions of our town.

A small steamboat has been built at Tumwater by Messrs. Boise & Goff, to run the Chehalis river, and was launched Saturday week. She will be taken to the river by way of the Straits and round outside.

The Board of Engineering Corps, to select sites for fortifications on the Sound, left on Monday last on Tom Wright's steamer, Diana. It looks as if something was wrong when the military officials continually contract with this instead of a Union boat to convey them around the Sound. The principles of Wright are well known, and if Uncle Sam has got to be fleeced, some one who has been more loyal to his country ought to receive the profit of it.

It is understood that Cyril Ward will contest the seat in the Council of E H Wilson, in the District of Pierce, Mason and Chehalis counties.

The order of Odd Fellows have recently reorganized their lodge in their place. On the 2d inst a public installation of officers was held. C C Hewitt is D D G M, and H K Hines, P G, acted as installing officer, in his case. The following is the list of officers: C C Hewitt, N G; Geo C Blankenship, V G; S W Percival, R S; J.M Hawk, T. Isaac Duffiemire, W; J L Head, C; J H. Kellett R S S, G G. Turner, G G Turner, L S S, N S Porter, R S N G; R H Hewitt, L S N G, H C Hale, R S V G, H. L. Griffin, L S N G, Samuel Coulter, I, Samuel Holmes, O G.

The net proceeds of the 4th of July proceeding by private contribution, collection and firemen's ball, above all expenses, was $118 64, all of which was duly applied to the fire department. This fire machine is the "elephant" of the good people of Olympia, and the Christian fortitude and forbearance with which it is supported, like all necessary evils, is highly commendable. Every few months this animale has to be fed, watered and groomed, so when a call is made, every one who considers himself a good citizen "comes up to the rack" and lends assistance. It is occasionally taken out for an airing, and then, gaily decked in flowers and attended by daring firemen in brilliant uniforms. It attracts the attention of the entire population, and shows to a gazing world what it might do if we ever had a fire and it did not always burst its hose, which, by the way, is always immediately repaired through the kind efforts of the town Council. It is the pet of a few zealous followers, who never tire of recounting its many virtues, or sounding praises of its abilities, and who challenge the whole Pacific coast to a trial of its powers. It is a big thing. With ten men to start it for five minutes one big man can throw a stream of water, without spray, for half a second, at a distance of at least ten feet, two men, twenty feet and so on up to a thousand feet. It has a well officered company—at least two thirds are officers, and can sing others a song after, who sings upon all public occasions. They have a good one-story building for housing the machine, about 8x10', with a lofty tower adjoining, and a bell therein. The tower is much admired for strength and durability, without much regard to beauty and finish, and is the pride of its architect. The bell sounds like the elephant." The history of the engine is unprecedented, if not amusing and instructive, and extends through the long period of time of at least three years, during which the entire populace have at times been engaged in making this the grand fire extinguisher of the North Pacific having made large private contributions held concerts and tableaux appropriated money from the town purse, and had numerous firemen's balls—the proceeds of which have gone to support it. At first, such an anxious desire was felt for its welfare, that it came near becoming private property, but the public weal would not surrender its rights, and so a magnanimous personal interest succumbed to the good of all.

The following items are from the Times of the 13th inst. On Monday last we had for this country a severe thunder storm. We question if ever having rained so hard in a given time as it did then. The lightning struck a fir on the west side of the bay, shivering and setting it on fire. The rain, though not as much as was needed was timely and did a vast amount of good to the crops nearly withered up by the drouth. As it is, the grain crop will fall far short of the average, many fields will scarcely pay for cutting. Hay will also be short many acres that last year yielded heavily will not be cut this year.

Bro Pettygrove of the Port Townsend Message, gave us a call last week. He was the best dressed print (in borrowed clothes) we have seen lately. his general appearance bespoke health happiness, a receipt from his boarding house keeper and money in his pocket.

INDIANS OF SOUTHERN IDAHO.—The Boise Statesman of the 11th has the following:

Governor Ballard has removed "Bannack John" Indians to a temporary camp ground at the forks of the Boise river, some twenty five or thirty miles above this city. It is his intention, we believe soon to remove all the straggling remnants about Boise City to the same place, unless it be some who are regularly employed around town. The Governor and special agent Powell, went up to the new reservation last week and found it to be a most desirable place for the Indians. Fish and game are abundant, and there is a beautiful range for the animals they may have, and good land to cultivate if they are disposed to do it. They will there be able to assist materially in supporting themselves comfortably, and they will be quite out of the way of the whites, or of other Indians. All of Bannack John's ablo bodied men are anxious to join the campaign against the Snakes. Agent Powell will have charge of the reservation. This arrangement is only designed to be temporary and to last until the department shall ratify the selection of the permanent reservation in the neighborhood of Fort Hall.

IT WORKS TO PERFECTION.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, is perfectly harmless. It produces natural, quiet sleep, by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It cures wind colic, and regulates the bowels—gives rest to the mother and health to the child. Offices 205 Fulton street, New York and 205 High Holborn, London, England. Hostetter, Smith & Dean, Agents for the Pacific Coast.

VALUABLE AND CONVENIENT.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are widely known as an admirable remedy for Bronchitis Hoarseness, Coughs, and other troubles of the Throat and Lungs. They are of great value for the purposes for which they are designed, while they are usually and pleasantly efficacious, they contain no hurtful ingredients, but may at all times be used with perfect safety.—Boston Recorder.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY.—We know of no better way to save money than to recolor garments, and thus make them practically as good as new. This can be done by using the celebrated FAMILY DYE COLORS of Howe & Stevens which are equal to the best French and ten times as cheap and convenient. Sold by Smith & Davis.

SO MOTE IT BE.—KOHN & FRIEDEL, No 91 Front street, have determined to be the cheapest house in the State, and as every person is complaining of hard times, have decided to make another deduction in the price of their fine and custom made clothing furnishing goods, dry goods, etc. Call and examine their extensive stock and convince yourself that the above is the fact.

STAMPS ON EMPTY CIGAR BOXES.—Not more than two or three months since, we published the section of the Revenue law which relates to the cancellation of stamps on empty cigar boxes; but it seems there is need for again calling the attention of dealers to the necessity of —buying such stamps. Many of them, either through ignorance of the law or careless—s, fail to destroy the stamps and thus render themselves liable to a severe penalty. At the request of a revenue officer, we republish the section and call the attention of retailers especially to it.

"SEC. 22. And be it further enacted, That any person who shall sell, give away, or otherwise dispose of, any empty cigar box or boxes which have been stamped, without first defacing or destroying such stamps, or shall refill any cigar box without first destroying such stamp, shall on conviction of either offence be liable to a penalty of one hundred dollars or to imprisonment not exceeding eighty days, or both, in the discretion of the Court, with the costs of trial; and it shall be lawful for any cigar inspector or revenue officer to destroy any empty cigar box upon which a cigar stamp shall be found."

PRODUCE.—Just at present, the arrivals of produce from the Willamette valley are exceedingly and unusually light. Of most articles, the receipts are not equal to the current consumption of this city alone, to say nothing of the demands for exportation. This is not, by any means, because of the supply being exhausted, for there are yet large amounts of wheat, bacon, etc., in store —ng the farmers in the interior and in warehouses along the banks of the rivers. The recent depressed state of the breadstuffs market had the effect to check consignments of that article; and wheat was kept back partly because of the decline in price at San Francisco, and partly because one or two of the principal mills were closed, temporarily. Now, the farmers are engaged in haying and will soon begin their grain harvests. While that lasts, very little produce of any kind will find its way here beyond such as may have been hauled to the river banks, before the haying season began. We may, therefore, naturally look for the produce market to become quite bare, before shipments will be resumed.

CIRC. COURT—SHATTUCK, JUDGE.—Proceedings of Wednesday, July 17th:

State of Oregon vs. Daniel Harvey, indicted for perjury; tried by jury; verdict not guilty; defendant discharged and sureties on recognizance exonerated.

F. J. McGowan vs the City of Portland; on motion of Chapman, attorney for plaintiff, ordered that the date for appellant to prepare and serve statements of facts, be extended to the 25th day of July, 1867.

Elliott vs. Belden; continued till next term of the court.

N. H. Lane vs. McCraken et al., motion to strike out part of answer overruled; leave given to file reply.

Charles Gongbran vs. A. M. Lorrey; demurrer to complaint overruled; time granted till the 22d inst. to file reply.

James Thompson vs. N. G. Gray; referred to E. Willcox to hear testimony and report on all issues.

The court adjourned till Thursday.

CLIMBING THE MOUNTAINS.—There seems to be an unusual attraction, this year, in the direction of the snow-peaks of this coast. Beside the contemplated trip of Col. Williamson and party, to the summit of Mt. Hood, there are one or two expeditions of the same sort planned by parties in this city and neighborhood. A small party left here last Monday intending to climb the mountain, and we learn that a party is about to start from Salem for the same purpose. We have noticed in the papers several times, items concerning the departure of explorers to the summits of other snow-peaks. Mr. Coleman, the Librarian of the Mechanics Institute, Victoria, started alone, on the 14th inst., to ascend Mt. Baker for the purpose of making scientific observations. Our snow mountains are likely to be overrun (no pun intended, upon honor,) by visitors, this season. We tremble to think of what may befall certain people, should this sort of expeditions become a mania.

A TEXAS CAUGHT.—A German came up here on the late trip of the Ajax, and after remaining here a few days went out to Washington county, where he hired to work for a Mr. Jackson. Last Sunday Mr. Jackson and family left home to attend a camp-meeting, and upon returning home found a bureau in the house had been broken open and robbed of $125, currency, and five or six dollars in coin. The German was missing, and, of course, was suspected. On Monday Mr. Jackson came to this city in search of the thief, but no trace could be found of him here. Information of the robbery was, also, sent to various other directions, together with a description of the man. On the following day, Capt. Fisher of the Ranger, came up from below and reported that the man had crossed the mountains to St. Helens, and was immediately recognized, arrested and taken to Hillsboro. The money was found on his person.

WOODSIDE'S COURT.—In the Recorder's Court, yesterday, the following cases were disposed of:

A. Carr, selling liquor at the Live Saloon without a license, fined 50 cents and costs.

Osborn, keeping a hotel without a license; fined 50 cents and costs.

Tay — Moffatt, for fast riding was fined $5 and costs.

Ah Wing and Kee Mong, assault and battery; for a disturbance the assaulted party consented to bear his wrongs in silence, and withdrew his complaint.

Several other charges for selling liquor without having renewed licenses, are entered upon the books and awaiting examination.

ADDING POSTS FOR HITCHING POSTS.—Many of the awnings over the sidewalks are supported only by the posts at the curb. This being the case, to pull out a post suddenly might precipitate the roof upon the pavement, to the imminent danger of the passers by. Some people do not seem to reflect much about such matters. We saw one of these posts jerked out of its place yesterday by a horse, and a portion of the roof thereby let down. Nobody was hurt, but the experiment is one which would not be pleasant to have repeated too often, especially if you chanced to be passing under the awning at the precise time of springing the trap.

THE OLD PENITENTIARY BUILDING.—We learn that the Directors of the Oregon Iron Works have made application to Gov. Woods to learn at what price he will sell the old penitentiary building in this city, and that he has named terms which will be taken into consideration at a meeting of the Board of Directors this afternoon. We are not informed as to the terms offered. Should the company conclude to accept, they will probably put their machinery into the building and get to work again within the next thirty days.

THE FARMER TROUP.—The injury to this steamer on Friday was of such a nature as to require a new shaft to put in. Having to lay her up for a week or more to have this done, Captain Turnbull concluded to have her put through a course of sprouts, generally, and fixed up as good as new. Accordingly Mr Tromp, the engineer was at work all day yesterday, taking her engines to pieces. Within the next week, perhaps, the steamer will be out again, in tip-top shape.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.—At the usual hour, last evening, the Clerk called the Council to order. Present, Messrs. Besser, Burch, McCraken and Mulkey. Absent, Messrs. Yochhelmer, Hallock, Porter, Ripley and Rosenheim—an usual of late.

There being no quorum, Mr. Besser moved that the Council take a recess till to-morrow (Thursday) evening at 8 o'clock, which prevailed.

TRAVEL VIA MONTICELLO.—Of late passengers by the Okanagan, to and from Monticello, have been unusually numerous—very nearly equal to those carried by all the other steamers plying to and from this city. The only theory which accounts for it is that cheap fare sets people to traveling whether they have business or not.

I. O. O. T.—Captain E. G. Adams is winning the title of "The irrepressible." Notwithstanding the existence already of three lodges of Good Templars in this city, he organized another on Tuesday evening, at Harbaugh's hall, corner of Front and Columbia streets. It takes the name of "Nonpareil Lodge." George E. Gilbert is the W. C. T.

SUMMER WORK.—Capt. Kellogg for the P. T Co. has set a number of hands at work loading down their breakwater at Oregon City. As soon as the water gets down to its low stage, other workmen will be employed to clear out the channel and to repair the railroad which was caved down in places during the floods of last winter.

MAKING REGULAR TRIPS.—Captain Turnbull, within a few hours of the accident to the Fannie Troup, had the Julia secured and will make regular trips with her till his own steamer can be again repaired. The Julia arrived from Vancouver, yesterday, at the usual hour for the arrival of the Troup.

FOR SALE.—The steamer, one day this week, brought down and landed at Miller's place near Milwaukie, near three thousand cartloss flower pots, manufactured at the Buena Vista Pottery.

WILLAMETTE FREIGHTS.—The Reindeer brought down from Oregon City, yesterday, 1,400 qr sks flour, 41 sks feed, 11 half bbls produce, 1 case mdse, 1 bale skins, 1 box hides, 4 bales woolen goods.

THE NEXT STEAMER.—The steamship Continental sailed from San Francisco for this port, yesterday. She will sail on her return trip on the 25th.

NO NEED FOR HAIR DYE.—Notwithstanding the bad times, and the rumors afloat of dull business, Barman Bros. are still selling Paper Collars at 25 cents a box, and it don't make them grey headed, either.

STATE ITEMS.

Three or four camp-meetings, says the Journal, are now in progress in Linn county.

Another lump of gold has been picked up in Jackson county which is large enough to awaken some of the buried recollections of Pizen. It weighs 146 ounces.

An Indian has been arrested at Siletz Reserve for stealing goods in his possession and putting in value to about $200 which were stolen from a neighboring store in Corvallis, a few days ago. The thief is confined for trial.

The celebration at Lebanon on Independence Day was a rebel-Confederate Democratic affair throughout. One Hendrix, an importation from Cass county, delivered an address vilifying Union men and glorifying the "Lost Cause."

The officers of the Linn County Medical Society recently elected are Dr. J. P. Pate, President, Dr. W. F. Alexander, Vice President; Dr. S. Whittemore, Secretary, Dr. Pfimmer, Cor. Sec. Board of Censors, Dr. Crawford, of Brownsville; Dr. Odell, of Lebanon, and Dr. Smith of Peoria.

The Sentinel of the 13th gives the following item of horror. Yesterday a gentleman passing the place of Charles Mulford, some distance above Uniontown, on Applegate, was led, by the peculiar and disagreeable smell which proceeded from the house, to enter it; there he found the putrid corpse of a woman who has been living with Mulford—she having been dead some days. He, partly deranged, and in an almost dying condition, was brought into town. Intemperance! Intemperance!

The following tribute to Senator Williams is from a Democratic source, appearing in a Washington letter to the Salem Statesman. Judge Williams has proven himself to be one of the ablest men in the Senate, and he is an indefatigable worker and has won for himself a high place in the confidence and esteem of his compeers. He is now spoken of as a candidate for Vice President, and also as a member of the Cabinet. He is a strong Radical and firm in his political faith; but his dignity and fair course have attracted the attention of persons who differ with him politically, and many of them esteem him very highly. Judge Williams is a very kind and courteous to all persons, especially from Oregon, whether they agree with him politically or not.

The Southern Oregon Press wishes to be facetious. It says "Since the Radicals have begun mongrelizing the country, the infection seems to have spread to the lower animals. This week we witnessed a female porcine in the act of suckling a litter of kittens just as complacently as if they were her own young." This is without doubt a wonderful phenomenon, but we have heard of cases somewhat similar but still more astonishing. They are known to be divers good Democrats still living who drew their earliest nourishment from the rich, warm fragrant bosoms of sable "aunties" on tobacco plantations. So perhaps after all "Radicalism" is not quite as disgusting as Democracy.

CONTRACTS LET.—The contracts for furnishing the Indian Superintendency at Boise City with subsistence, forage, etc., were awarded a few days ago. The range of bids, says the Statesman, was as follows.

For bacon there were eight bids; highest 40 cents; awarded to Chas. Adams at 31¼ cents. Flour, eight bids, highest 12 cents; awarded to B. M. Dalkoil at 9 cents. Hay, seven bids, highest $40, awarded to D. N. Hyde at $32 50. Oats, eight bids; highest 6 cents, awarded to Chas. Adams at 4 9 10 cents. Rice, seven bids; highest 37 cents; awarded to D. N. Hyde at 24½ cents. Sugar, eight bids; highest 40 cents; awarded 1,000 pounds to D. N. Hyde at 20½ cents, and 1,000 to Chas. Adams at the same rate. Wood, five bids; highest, $15½, awarded to A. G. Rodway at $13¾. The above prices are in currency, and all of them extremely low.

Speaking of Greeley's advice to the young man who lately asked him how he could become rich, the Honolulu Advertiser says:

Many parents do not think, when they give their little boys or girls a real or a quarter every time they ask for one, whether they need it or not, that they are thereby planting the seeds of extravagance. Learn them in youth the value of money, and when they get older they will be likely to take care of it. Inculcate, in every department of the domestic arrangements, the strictest order and economy, and be particular, however well off you may be, or whatever be your position in life, to educate your children to the idea that nothing is to be wasted. Do not tell us that this is mere preaching. The truth is that there is not enough preaching on this subject, and still less practice.

PERFECTLY ENRAPTURING.—Such were our feelings as we stepped into the Music and Art Gallery of W. T. SHARAFFER, on First street, a few days since, and listened to the delightful tones and harmony which came from one of Mason & Hamlin's Cabinet Organs. From the soft breathing flute tones to the thundering bass of the pipe organ, all was equally free and sweet. And why is it other makers cannot produce instruments like these? Mason & Hamlin were the first to introduce the Cabinet Organ, and have gained such world-wide notoriety that it requires the work of two large factories to supply the demand for these valuable instruments.

A SPLENDID INSTRUMENT.—We saw, yesterday, at J. L. Parrish & Co's something new, in the way of an organ —a French instrument called the Organ Harmonium—invented by Alphonse Rodolphe. It is a very considerable modification of the organ as we have them from the American manufacteries. It is provided with sixteen stops, each of which exercises a distinct and peculiar effect upon the tone. The bass stops are the Forte, Jeu Fonds (soft, sweet) Basson, Clarion, Bourdon, Cor Anglais, Horn; the treble stops are Expression, Tremolo, Scotch Seggipe, Flute, Clarionette, Fife, Hautbois, Voix Celeste, Forte, and Ruse or Full Expression. The effect of these stops in changing the tone is most surprising. For instance: from the flute to Voix Celeste with Full Expression, the tone changes from what sounds precisely like a soft flute, to the full grand harmony which we would expect from an Angel choir—what the name imports. The Key-Board is movable and can be adjusted to any key, to any instrument, or to the voice of any singer. Other changes are no less surprising. The instrument is one of the most perfect workmanship and of the highest finish; have taken the first medals at all the great European Expositions. The prices range from $175, to $600. Persons in want of an instrument should call and see them, for it is impossible to get a correct idea of them, except from personal inspection. J. L. Parrish & Co., are sole agents for the Pacific coast.

Rest

We have never, we believe, seen verses more true and touching than those which were found under the pillow of a soldier who was lying dead in a hospital near Port Royal South Car lina.—Loring Age

I lay me down to sleep
With little or no care
Whether my waking find
Me here or there

A bowing burdened head,
That only asks to rest,
Unquestioning, upon
A loving breast

My good night hand forgets
Its cunning now
To march the weary march
I know not how

I am not eager, bold,
Nor strong—all that is past,
I am ready not to do
At last, at last

My half day's work is done,
And this is all my part,
I give a patient God
My patient heart.

And grasp his banner still,
Though all its hues be dim,
Those stripes, no less than stars,
Lead after Him

Mrs. Cobb and the President—Pardon Brokerage—Interesting Developments.

[From the Illinois State Journal.]

We have already noticed the book written by Gen L C Baker, the well known Chief of the Bureau of National Detective Police during the war. In it he gives an interesting glimpse of the operations of the secret service on which he was engaged. Among the many points upon which new light is thrown is the pardon brokerage business under the Cobb-Johnson dispensation of mercy.

We have not space for the story in full, and therefore must give it condensed. The General states that in the fall of '65 he was informed by a subordinate detailed to "watch persons of doubtful business and character about the Executive Mansion" that Mrs. L. L. Cobb, a woman who would hardly do for the wife of a Cæsar, however it might be with a Cobb, was doing a "staving" business in securing pardons for whoever had the money to pay for them—at least that she openly boasted of her signal ability in that line Gen Baker, thinking such scandal should be suppressed, determined to ascertain if there was any truth in Mrs Cobb's boasts of influence, and, in case he found she was procuring pardons and selling them, to expose her. He did not doubt but if such were the fact the President would desire to know it, and would promptly decline to permit such transactions to be repeated. Accordingly, Gen. Baker manufactured an application for pardon, and placed it in the hands of a subordinate, who represented himself to Mrs. Cobb as one Clarence J. Howell, late of the rebel army. Not suspecting the trap, the gracious Cobb undertook to secure the desired pardon upon the terms set forth in the following contract:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 5, 1865.

For and in consideration of the sum of $300 paid to me by Capt. Clarence J. Howell, I hereby agree as follows, to wit: To take from Capt. Howell his statement in regard to his case, and procure for him the full and complete pardon for his past offenses. The money to be paid as follows. $100 in hand, and the remaining $200 on delivery of his pardon on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. I further agree that in case I do not succeed in getting the pardon as agreed, I will return the $100 received of him.

[Signed,] MRS. L. L. COBB.

The above contained the following receipt on the back

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5, 1865.

Received on the within, $100.

[Signed,] MRS. L. L. COBB.

The unsuspecting female never "smelt a mice" until, the pardon received, delivered and paid for, Detective Baker made his appearance and demanded the money, telling her, by way of explanation, how nicely she had been caught. Nothing daunted, the charming brokeress blandly gave up the money after Baker had said to her:

"You shall not impose upon the President by your presence. He doubtless regards you as an honest woman, and when he is made aware of your real character and the business in which you are engaged, I think you will not be permitted again to visit the White House."

This did not seem to seriously alarm her, for she coolly told General Baker that she had the same right to be a broker that other men and women had, and that he had found out nothing about the business which the President did not already know. To put on the finishing touches, she added: "Your action in arresting me will cost you your commission, I shall see the President to-morrow, and have you mustered out of service." To satisfy him that she had a right to speak as one having authority, she expatiated at great length upon the course Mr. Johnson would shortly pursue with "Black Republican" officeholders, General Baker among the rest. We should infer from the narrative that he was somewhat awed by her cool cheek and sang froid. He once left his fair charge in the keeping of the pardoned Howell and sought the President, whom he found alone.

He explained the object of his visit, whereupon His Excellency became very much excited, and in language more vivid than polite, inquired "Who employed you to do the duties of the President or of the Attorney General?" He finally composed himself, and at parting, requested that Mrs. Cobb be invited to come and see him the following evening, and that Baker himself would call on him the next morning after that. When he next saw the President, General Baker found him in a great state of excitement, and the only thanks he received for his labors was a dismissal from the Executive Chamber, with a sharp rebuke for his "interference with matters at the White House." "Mrs. Cobb is," Mr. Johnson added "a virtuous lady, and you have no right to interfere with her occupation." This was a very different sequel from that he had expected, but bad as it was, the worst was to come. That Mrs. Cobb might be fully exonerated, and an effectual stop be put to interference with her occupation, General Baker was on the following day arrested for the false imprisonment of Mrs. C., her only incarceration being the brief closeting of herself and husband with Detective Baker and aforesaid "Howell." He was also sued for the money the latter had paid Mrs. Cobb for his bogus pardon, and which Baker had "resumed." After a due course of law, a verdict was given for the plaintiff, and Mrs. Cobb's vindication was complete.

We subjoin Gen. Baker's account of his first interview with President Johnson. It affords a fine illustration of the dignity and decorum of the present occupant of the White House:

"After what I had said to the President respecting Mrs. Cobb and her operations at the White House, and after furnishing him with an official report, at his own request, I certainly thought he would give orders to have her kept out of the Executive mansion. On the contrary, I heard that she was a more frequent visitor there than ever, and was boasting among her friends that in spite of Gen. Baker's interference she was still a welcome guest of the President. I could not think this possible. So, in order to bring the controversy between the President and myself to an issue, I directed an officer to ascertain whether this was true, and learned that she was a constant visitor Still thinking the President could not be aware of her visits, on the 15th of November I stationed a detective police officer at the front entrance, with instructions to prevent Mrs. Cobb entering. About 11 o'clock, as usual, she presented herself, and was told that she could not go in. She asked the officer by whose order he was acting, and he replied: "By order of Gen. Baker." Mrs Cobb replied "Well, I will see the President in ten minutes." She went round to the rear part of the house, entered the kitchen, went up to the President's private room, and told him that Gen. B had a detective at the door to prevent her seeing him. The President sent for the detective and said, "Sir, by whose order do you presume to guard my door?" The detective replied: "I am not guarding the door. I was sent here by Gen. Baker to prevent Mrs. Cobb from entering the house." The President said: "Tell Gen. Baker I want to see him immediately" Accordingly he started for my office, but in the mean time he had sent his private messenger, who arrived first, and in a very excited manner informed me that the President wished to see me immediately and must drop all business and come at once. I went, and entered the President's private room. I found him alone, pacing the room very excitedly Furiously he said to me: "How dare you place detectives at my door?" I told him that I supposed he desired Mrs Cobb and other females of like character to be kept from his house He answered "When I want your services I will send for you Mrs Cobb has just as much right to come here as you or any other person. This is not the first time, Sir that you have interfered at the White House Now I want it stopped"

Still pacing the room, he repeated several times what he had before said concerning Mrs. Cobb—that she had as much right to visit the White House as any other respectable person Walking up to me like a pugilist, he shook his fist in my face, and said again "How dare you presume to exercise any control over the management of the White House?" I then said, "Mr President, when such vile characters as Mrs Cobb can visit the White House at all times of night and day, when she can procure pardons as she has done in the case of Capt Howell, and deliver them in person incomplete or, without being recorded, when she boasts publicly in the streets, hotels and saloons of this city that she is a pardon broker, and the President dare not refuse any of her applications but she has the President of the United States in her pocket I think it high time something interfered" The President replied "How dare you to talk to me in that way, sir" Now, sir, I tell you once for all, you must not interfere with my business, neither must you interfere with any person who has business in the Executive Mansion" I started to leave the room, when he followed me to the door, and with his fist clenched said "Now recollect what I have told you You can go and tell your friend Stanton all I have said, I say it, and tell your friend Stanton all I have said" With this I left the Presidential Mansion, and have never entered it since"

As may be supposed, these damaging disclosures of the corrupt system of pardon brokerage at the White House have created quite a flutter Although disgraceful, the position bears upon its face such intrinsic evidence of faithfulness, and in Washington City is so capable of corroboration from many sources that nobody professes to doubt it It is a lamentable evidence of personal and political demoralization, which shows the importance of bringing the capital city of the nation under better influences Of course, however, we do not mean to imply that her Ascendency was at all damaged in this reputable connection There are some things which it would be hard to spoil

A SPEECH BY CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE.—At the opening of the United States Circuit Court at Raleigh lately, at the State Senate Chamber, Chief Justice Chase made the following remarks to the practitioners, of whom a large number were present

Gentlemen of the Bar Before proceeding to the regular business, I think it proper to address a few observations to you. For more than four years the Courts of the Union were excluded from North Carolina by the rebellion. When active hostilities ceased in 1865, the national military authority took the place of all ordinary civil jurisdiction, or controlled its exercise All Courts, whether State or national, were subordinated to the military, and acted, when they acted at all under such limitations and in such cases as the commanding Generals, under the direction of the President, thought fit to prescribe Their rights might be disregarded and their judgments and decrees set aside by the military orders Under these circumstances, the Justices of the Supreme Court allotted to the Courts which include the insurgent States abstained from joining the District Judges in holding the Circuit Courts Their attendance was unnecessary, for the District Judges were fully authorized by law to hold Circuit Courts without the Justices of the Supreme Court, and to exercise complete jurisdiction in the trial of all criminal and almost all cases Their attendance was also unnecessary for another reason. The military tribunals of that time and under existing circumstances were competent to exercise jurisdiction over all criminal and civil cases which belong, under ordinary circumstances, to the civil Courts

Being unnecessary, the Justices thought their attendance would be improper and unbecoming. They regarded it as unfit in itself and injurious in many ways to the public interests, that the highest offices of the Judicial Department of the Government should exercise their functions, supervision and control of the Executive Department. At length, however, the military control over the civil tribunal was suspended by the President, the writ of habeas corpus was restored and military authority in civil matters abrogated. This was effected partially by the proclamations of April 2d and August 20, 1866 These proclamations reinstated in full authority the National Courts in all matters within their jurisdiction, and the Justices of the Supreme Court were expected to join the District Judges in holding Circuit Courts during the interval between the terms at Washington.

On the 23d of July, 1866, however, an Act of Congress reduced the number of circuits and changed materially the districts of which the Southern circuits are composed, without making or providing for an allotment of the members of the Supreme Court to the new circuits, and without such allotment of Justices that Court has no circuit jurisdiction. The effect of the Act, therefore, was to suspend the authority of the Justices to hold the Circuit Courts in the altered circuits. This suspension was removed by the Act of March 2, 1867, by which a new allotment was authorized under this Act. The Justices of the Supreme Court have been again assigned to circuit duties, and the Chief Justice has been allotted to hold with the District Judges the National Courts in the district of which North Carolina is a part,

I am here, therefore, to join my brother, the District Judge, in holding the Circuit Court for this district. It is the first Circuit Court held in any district within the insurgent States at which the Justice of the Supreme Court could be present without the discharge of his superior duties at the seat of Government, or usurpation of the jurisdiction of the associate Justices allotted to the other Southern circuits. I will join with them in holding Courts at their regular terms prescribed by law, and thus the national civil jurisdiction will be fully restored throughout the Union. It is true that the military authority is still exercised within these Southern circuits, but not now as formerly, in consequence of the disappearance of the local authority and in the supervision and control of all tribunals, whether State or national. It is now used under the Acts of Congress, and only to prevent illegal violence to persons and property and to facilitate the restoration of every State to equal rights and benefits in the Union. This military authority does not extend in any respect to the Courts of the United States. Let us hope that henceforth neither rebellion nor any other occasion for the assertion of any military authority over the Courts and Justices will hereafter suspend the course of judicial administration by a national tribunal in any part of the republic

SATIRE.—Satire is the least valuable, the least pleasing form of literature, as a whole. We would readily give up all the satire of Horace and Juvenal, of Boileu, Pope and Swift), for one of the lost tragedies of Sophocles, or a choral composition of Simonides. There was never a satire written that had not more wrong than right, more ill-temper than just judgment; and did not condemn its author more than its subject. Something of this applies to the comic drama. By the necessity of its nature it deals in burlesque, exaggeration, delineations that contain more or less of falsehood. We must be cautious how we judge of society or individuals from the representations of the comic stage. If we believe its stories, we shall come to the unhappy conclusion that virtue, honor and sanctity have fled the earth. It always aims to make strong points, to strike hard hits, to raise the laugh of the pit. On the other hand, in those works of the comic theater, and of satirical and comic literature, in which wit is tempered by good taste and a genial temper—in some of the plays of Aristophanes, most of Moliere's, the greater part of Shakspeare's comedies, the writings of Lucian, Cervantes, Addison, Sheridan, Washington Irving, Dickens, Holmes—wit and humor season literature as delightfully as they do conversation and life.—C. C. Felton

The New Orleans Republican expresses the hope that Congress will evince its appreciation of the frank and manly stand taken by General Longstreet in support of the reconstruction plan, by restoring him to the full rights of citizenship Senator Sherman, it may be remembered, introduced a similar proposition in regard to ex Gov Brown, of Georgia, whose efforts to induce compliance on the part of the Southern people have no doubt been persistent and serviceable The Senate took no notice on Mr Sherman's motion, and we anticipate none in behalf of General Longstreet at a period so early as the Republican appears to desire. But the mere mention of the matter is suggestive It shows that Republicans have no desire to perpetuate disabilities except as a means of holding enemies of the Union in check, and that they are prepared to sustain the adoption of a liberal policy to those of the excluded class who prove themselves the earnest promoters of the Congressional plan

LEGS.—The critic of the New York Times is inspired by the Black Crook to the following essay upon legs and ankles

A leg is not a bad index of the mind or disposition What sloth, for instance, does not an obese limb betray, what a shrew is the possessor of a limb like a walking stick, but what a gentle woman is she of the arched instep, the round ankle and the graceful pedestal swelling to perfection and modulating to lightness! What dogged obstinacy does the stumpy leg with the knotty calf exhibit what an irresolute soul does the lanky which bends at the knee betray How well the strong ankle indicates the firm principle, and how the flat ankle reveals the vacant mind!

A writer in one of our weekly papers says that "women grumble much more than men," and enters upon a long course of philosophical reasoning to explain why May it not be because they have men to grumble at, while men have only women? Some one once explained the curious fact that women are fond of kissing each other—which men never do—by saying that men can do better than kiss each other, while women can't. The explanation of the grumbling phenomenon, we fancy, is somewhat similar.

The Nation Prospering

The following very sensible remarks regarding the prosperity of the nation as a whole are taken from a very recent number of the New York Times

The facts that railroad trains are running light and that trade is said to be dull are regarded by many with gloomy forebodings We construe them differently Many of those who used to crowd the cars are now at home at work, where they should be, instead of gadding about on borrowed money and making trade brisk by buying goods that they will never pay for It is a great pity a good many of our city and village populace had not been started out upon the prairies and into the woods, there to hew out farms which would very soon be adding largely to the annual product, therefore, to the wealth and trade of the country—of course swelling the business of railroads.

There has been much senseless complaint of the decline of ship building—a complaint by no means confined to this country But more ships are not built simply because more ships are not needed Seven years ago, we grew $5,000 000 bales, (1,000,000 tons) of cotton Last year we grew two millions of bales only, while our product of sugar and rice have fallen off in at least equal proportion. Consequently we want fewer ships than we did, hence we build fewer, as we ought When we have more to ship, we shall build the requisite vessels, and we ought not to do it before

In 1865, our crops were light, mainly because we began that year with one million men in arms, and at least two millions employed, in one way or another, in playing the destructive game of war We mustered out the rebels in April and May, and the Unionists along in the summer and fall, but few of them did much to swell the harvest of that year, which was shortened at the south by the lack of implements and draft animals. The anarchy existing in the relations of labor to capital further contributed to stint the harvest. In 1866, we worked better, but this proved a very unfruitful season. The wheat crop was a very general failure; we think not more than five bushels were harvested to one sown; whereas there are usually ten to twelve The positive loss to the country from the failure of this single product cannot have been less than $100,000,000. Indian corn failed pretty generally throughout the South, and was badly shortened by frost in the Northwest, and, as a full crop would be about one thousand million bushels, we estimate the loss at two hundred million bushels, worth, where it should have grown at least, $100,000,000 more. Cotton was out short by goods, drouth, the army worm, etc, about one million bales, worth $100,000,000 more; but the higher price realized abroad partially compensated for the deficient quantity. Yet it is clear that on the whole, the county is at least $200,000,000 poorer to day than it would have been with fair average crops last year, to say nothing of those of 1865.

Yet, in the face of this "sobbing void" we went on buying silks and satins, laces and gewgaws, as though we were in the full tide of general prosperity; our importations for 1866 having exceeded in value of any former year. In it a wonder that our trade is slack and our railroad receipts light in the early part of 1867? How could they be otherwise when our agricultural districts have little to sell, and our grain growing regions are short of bread?

"This sickness is not unto death" Quite the contrary The great body of our people are tending, plowing, planting, seeding, weeding, feeding, as they should be Others are making iron, copper, lead, gold, silver, etc, etc In other words, we are producing wealth instead of swapping it about, and are thus laying the basis of a genuine prosperity, a beneficent commercial activity True, the spring is generally cold and backward, but it has thus far been wet, as our most important grass crop demands that it should be. Wheat is also generally looking well, having been largely sown last fall And, while the backwardness of spring, the wetness of the ground, has probably restricted the area sown to spring wheat, oats, barley, etc., there is yet ample time for corn, provided the requisite labor can be obtained to plant and till it Grass implies butter, cheese and beef, corn makes pork, and serves to increase the supply of butter and beef, and there is labor enough to be had by those who have the means of paying for it, and immigrants arriving at our ports at over one thousand per day.

We see nothing, therefore, that should incite despondence or justify gloomy apprehensions. There are rotten banks that must explode; there are still too many would be clerks, brokers and non producers, who have yet to be driven to productive labor; there are far too many goods coming in, too few furnaces in blast, too few spindles whirling and shuttles flying, but we shall try to have the tariff so amended as to better this next winter. On the whole, we judge that next fall may witness a substantial improvement in business, and decided recovery in the receipts of our railroads.

CHOLERA.

MR. PERRY DAVIS:—The benefits I have received from the use of your invaluable remedy, the Pain Killer, induces me to pen a word in its praise Experience has convinced me that for Headache, Indigestion Pain in the Stomach, or any other part of the system, severe Chills, Weakness common Colds, Hoarseness CHOLERA CHOLERA MORBUS, Diarrhœa Dysentery, Toothache, etc., THERE IS NOTHING EITHER THAN THE PAIN KILLER I have this hour recovered from a severe attack of the Sick Headache, by using two teaspoonfuls taken at thirty minutes interval, in a wine glass full of hot water I am confident, through the blessing of God, it saved me from the cholera in the summer of 1849 Travelling amid heat, dust, toil change of diet, and constant exposure to an infected atmosphere, my system was daily predisposed to dysentery attacks, accompanied with pain, for which the Pain Killer was a sovereign remedy, one teaspoonful curing the worst case in an hour I, at the most, half a day I have heard of many cases of Dysentery being cured by its use Put in the teeth, it will stop the toothache Gratitude and a desire for its general use has drawn from me this unsolicited testimonial in its favor
